MONDAY AFTERNOON, DEC. 13.

Is the drawing for seats the colored members were scattered around promiscuously upon the republican side. Harralson, a very black negro from Alabama, secured a seat just back of the aristocratic and fastidious George F. Hoar of Massachusetts.

HON. F. M. DUNCAN, representative of Doughs county, has prepared a bill to authorize the issuing of about six or eight million dollars of Georgia state money, redeemable when presented in sums not less than one thousand dollars, in bonds of the state bearing six per cent. gold interest. Mr. Duncan is determined to make money plenty. But what is the state to get for the notes she issues?

THE Macon Telegraph thinks it is questionable whether biennial sessions of the legislature would be found to work more satisfactorily in Georgia than in other states where they have been tried and abandoned. We all recognize the great evil which it assumed that biennial sessions will cure—excess of legislation. But is it true that they will work a cure? and could not that evil of needless, redundant and ill-considered legislation be remedied, or at least mitigated by some other method? We are inclined to think so.

THE reports of the officers of the Central railroad company give the following results for the year that ended with the close of the last month:

	Earnings	Expenses
Savannah division ...	$1,552,119	$ 825,953
Atlanta division.....	555 963	347 278
Southwestern division	77 4,736	504,129
Upon county R. R....	8,428	9,845
	$2,886,536	$1 629,705

The net earnings are about $200,000 more than they were last year, but the demands of leased and purchased road prevent a declaration of a dividend.

A CORRESPONDENT of the West Point Press advises this plan of hiring farm laborers:

Contract for all their time, and give them two-thirds of the crop, and they feed themselves, or give a good hand one-third of a bale of lint cotton, and feed him. Inferior hands in the same proportion, cotton seed to remain on the plantation. All hands should work together in repairing and planting until the crop is planted, then give each hand his own. At the same time, let us not forget that the planter's personal attention is worth more that any fertilizer they can get. With this and a judicious rotation of crops, allowing a broad area for hog and hominy, we may yet redeem the past, and make ourselves independent of cotton bears and provision bulls.

THE proprietors of the Columbus Times on Sunday morning took leave of journalism in the following card:

We have made an earnest endeavor to sustain the Times under our management but find that it will fare better in other hands. We have therefore sold and transferred the Times, its books and accounts and the good will of the establishment to Messrs. T. K Wynne and John H. Martin. It is a useless task to speak encomiums concerning these two gentlemen, for they are most favorably known to the citizens of Columbus and the surrounding counties. In their hands the Times will without fail continue to progress and grow in public favor.

Mr. Martin is the well known editor of the Enquirer, and whether the sale of the Times means its consolidation with the former or not, is just what we cannot find out from the columns of either.

THE Washington correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle thus describes the location of our delegation on the floor of the house of representatives:

During the drawing for seats on Tuesday a majority of the Georgians were in the best possible luck. Blount, Candler, Cooke and Hartridge were among the earliest called, and they are in almost whispering distance of each other and nearly in front of the speaker. Smith is the companion of Mr. Crittenden, of New York, and their desks almost confront the speaker's stand. Hill, Harris and Felton were among the last to be called in the lottery, Mr. Harris being the omega, as Whitehouse, of New York, was the alpha of the drawing. Mr. Hill was promptly tendered several more desirable seats, but retained the seat allotted to him, which is the seat occupied by Mr. Randall last session. Dr. Felton sits near him, and Mr. Harris not far off, in what he evidently considers the least desirable seat on the floor.

For the benefit of our fellow-citizens who may visit Washington during the session of congress, or who may desire to correctly forward letters, etc., we append the addresses of the Georgia delegation:

Senator John B. Gordon, corner Gay and Congress streets, Georgetown.

Senator Thomas Norwood, (not located.)

Hon. Julian Hartridge, Metropolitan hotel.

Hon. Wm. E. Smith, 908 F. street, northwest.

Hon. Philip Cook, 908 F. street, northwest.

Hon. Henry R. Harris, Metropolitan hotel.

Hon. Milton A. Candler, Metropolitan hotel.

Hon. James H. Blount, 512 Thirteenth street, northwest.

Hon. Wm. H. Felton, National hotel.

Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, (not located.)

Hon. Benj. H. Hill, Metropolitan hotel.

We note that Hon. Lucius Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, is at the Ebbitt house, and to this extent the rumor that he would be the guest of Senator Gordon this winter lacks confirmation.

—The marble monument to be erected by the admirers of the late John R. Thompson, over the remains of the dead poet and literateur, in Hollywood cemetery, in this city, has now been completed, and may be seen in the marble-yard of the artists in New York. The shaft will rest on a double base, and will be seventeen feet in height. On the face of the upper base will be carved a suitable memorial inscription, and on the shaft will be wrought a wreath of symbolical immortelles. The monument is a tribute paid to the memory of the poet mainly through the efforts of lady friends, who raised contributions for the purpose.—Richmond Enquirer.

GRANT AND THE PREACHERS.

His Renomination by Bishop Haven—A Scurrilous Blast Against the Pope and the South.

[Boston Globe, Dec. 7.]

The Methodist preachers and the Methodist Sunday-school union held a joint meeting yesterday morning in the Temple street Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. L. B. Bates presiding. After devotional exercises, Prof. Wm. Wells, of Union college, was introduced to address the meeting. He spoke at some length on the subject of "Bismarck and the Papacy," reviewing at length the train of circumstances which led to the rupture which exists between the German government and the Papacy, and in that connection calling attention to the points on which the German and French soldiers differed in the Franco-Prussian war. He declared that to the school system of Germany more than to any other earthly thing, belongs the honor of the German success. In concluding he warned the people of the United States of the danger which is threatening them and their free institutions from the Papacy.

Bishop Gilbert Haven, in accordance with an invitation extended by the preachers' meeting a fortnight ago, addressed the audience on the condition of the south. He said that there was one class of people in the south who had been recognized as a nationality by the Pope, and they would welcome his followers to these shores; but the race freed by the people of the north will never strike a blow against constitutional liberty. Bishop Haven said that there is to be a tremendous political battle this year, beginning with the election of a democratic speaker of the national house of representatives. He said that the ministers of Boston are in the field of battle; their words are reported and the southern papers comment on them. The question is, "Shall the northern people rule the nation?" "Shall the Puritan or the Cavalier be the ruler?" "Shall Boston or Charleston be the center?" The Methodist Episcopal church is the only institution in the south to-day that represents the American nation. You must, he said, stand by your church. There are in the south nearly 300,000 members of the Methodist Episcopal church, who know what they believe just as well as the people of New England, and better. They appreciate liberty and those who gave it to them; they never will be betrayers, and let the people of the north never betray them. The malcontents of the south know that they were defeated by one man; that man is President Grant, and if the people throw him over at the command of politicians they will rue it. Pray, brethren, that President Grant may be re-elected. Pray for the true people of the south, and you will find that thus you will be able to keep down kindred threatening powers, the state power and the power of papacy. The Rev. Dr. Sherman, of Brookline, moved that the meeting vote that they heard the sentiments advanced by Mr. Haven with great pleasure and hearty approval. This motion was unanimously adopted. All opposed were invited to rise, but not one person rose. There was great applause.

HOW CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER CASES.

Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Suppose a Roman Catholic bishop were to publicly advocate the nomination of any democratic politician for the presidency, next year; what a howl would go up! How that pious Protestant, Mr. Thomas Nast, would break out in cartoons! What severe and edifying homilies we should have from all the organs that have received Mr. Morton's circular letter of true republican inwardness, upon the evils and perils of having a "political church" among us.

Yesterday there was a joint anniversary meeting of the Methodist Tract Society and Sunday school union at Boston. The Boston Methodist preachers attended in a body, and there were between one and two hundred visiting clerical brethren from other parts of the country. Rev. Prof. Wells, of Union college, opened the ball by a vigorous blast against the Jesuits and eulogy of Bismarck. He was warmly applauded. Then Bishop Haven took the floor. The slave power and the papists were working together, he said. They were working together, at that very moment, in the election of speaker. The war wasn't over. The Methodist church was the only organization at the south that "represented the American idea." He didn't care for parties, but he did care for the church and the negro. "There was only one man that had conquered or could conquer the enemies of American freedom and American institutions, and those enemies know it, both pro-slavery and ecclesiastical, and if we threw him overboard we would regret it. He meant President Grant. The brethren applauded. Rev. Brother Sherman moved that the meeting had heard the remarks of the bishop "with great pleasure and hearty approval," and the vote was unanimous.

Yet Mr. Thos. Nast and the organs won't so much as roll up their fine eyes.

A Minister's Son Eloping with a Farmer's Daughter.

(From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

South Adams is enjoying a genuine sensation in the elopement and marriage of Willie Walton and Nellie Anthony. The boy is the son of Rev. Evarts Walton, who used to preach in the Congregational church at North Adams, but is now an Episcopal clergyman at Wilton, Conn. Willie has been living for a year or so with his grandfather, Levi Randall, of South Adams, neighbor of Humphrey Anthony, a well to-do farmer and father of Nellie. The couple have kept up a clandestine acquaintance during the fall, greatly against Mr. Anthony's wishes. Sunday, Nellie gave young Walton a letter accepting his offer of marriage, but the same night, after much urging, promised her father to take back her promise. Monday morning she left her home, ostensibly to get her letters from Walton, but as she did not return her father began a search for her, and, finding that Walton had hired a livery team, he took an officer and drove to North Adams, where he found that the town clerk had issued a certificate of marriage for them, and that the ceremony had been performed by the Rev. Mr. Jump, of Williamstown. Returning to North Adams, the father found his daughter at Walton's grandfather's, but she stoutly resisted his entreaties to return home with him. Walton did not get in till nearly midnight, having spent the evening among his cronies, boasting that he had married a rich farmer's daughter, who would have plenty of money by and by. Nellie said she was eighteen, but her father thought she was but seventeen.

A Coming Message on Southern Affairs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Gentlemen who have the confidence of the administration say that in addition to his promised message on Cuba, the president, at some period during the session, will also send in a message in relation to southern affairs. That he is a candidate for renomination no sagacious politician here doubts, and it is not concealed that between the lines of the southern manifesto there may be read the bid for the votes of the southern delegations in the nominating conventions. The politicians who may be said to have charge of the president are more loud and outspoken than ever in their advocacy of a third term, and point to the introduction of the religious and sectarian issues in the message as the strongest evidence that he is a candidate, and, owing to the discord and dissension they are expected to create, the sure indications that he will succeed in his ambitious intrigue. Many of Mr. Blaine's friends are indignant at what they mildly call the president's appropriation of his common school constitutional amendment idea, and it is not improbable that the ex-speaker may change his mind upon the subject and not present it as he intended to do.

Drawing Cuts for a Home.

[Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard.]

Mayor P. T. Barnum and wife felt lonesome in their large house for the winter, and Mr. George A. Wells and his wife, living alone in their large and beautiful mansion, had the same feeling. Each proposed that the other should closed his house, and the four reside this winter under one roof. To decide the matter they drew cuts, and the result is that Mr. and Mrs. Barnum are living with Mr. and Mrs. Wells, on Clinton avenue, till April next.

The President's Message.

NEW YORK, December 12.—A London special to the Herald says the message of President Grant has been chiefly influential in determining the purposes of the government concerning the complications in Cuba. It has outwardly removed the existing suspicion that trouble was impending. It has also relieved American bonds from a pressure and heaviness that was felt by those who are engaged in their manipulations. It may be added however that these securities are still feverishly held because of the suggestions of the president. Concerning the school question and the opening of the new political issues. On the whole, the message has been well received and especially that portion of it which treats of the finances of the government, and the possibility that at a not distant day the currency of the country will be reduced to a basis that will correspond with that of other specie paying communities.

Out of Danger.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Dec 13.—The moderate weather has enabled boats caught in dangerous places by the recent freeze to reach secure harbors.

A Substitute for the Mosel.

BREMEN, Dec. 13.—The steamship Mosel sails to-morrow for New York in place of the Mosel.

Won't Accept.

ST. LOUIS, December 13.—Mr. Glover stated to a friend that he was unwilling to succeed Henderson under the restraints imposed by Pierrepont in his telegram removing Gen. H. That he considered an acceptance equivalent to an endorsement of Grant's right to remove any one engaged in prosecution for the slightest criticism upon the conduct of the president or his cabinet; in short, that he regarded an acceptance under the circumstances as a concession of certain privileges which not only every attorney but every man in this country feels himself entitled to.

Third Term.

SALT LAKE, Dec. 13.—There was a meeting of the Methodist ministers in this city. They adopted the resolutions protesting against the action of Bishop Haven and the Methodist preachers of Boston, nominating Grant for the third term.

Explosion.

LONDON, December 12.—A dispatch received here from Bremernhaven, states that 68 persons were killed and 95 wounded by the explosion yesterday on the Quay of the Mosel, and eight are missing. A passenger on board the Mosel has since attempted to commit suicide, but was prevented from consummating the fatal act. He will be examined.

An Irish Parade at the Centennial.

PHILADELPIA, Dec. 13.—At a meeting of the Catholic total abstinence union of the arch-diocese of Philadelphia to-day, it was resolved that there will be no parade of the union on the 17th of March next, but that out of love for American liberty, and a desire to render to the one hundredth anniversary of American independence all the honor due the occasion, great efforts will be made to make the annual parade on the 4th of July next a memorable one in the history of the organization.

Mr. Kerr's Early Life.

[From the Erie Dispatch.]

Michael C. Kerr, one of the candidates of the democratic house of representatives for speaker, was born on a farm near Titusville, and it is stated that it was on his father's farm that oil was first struck. In the year 1852, his father sold out for $9,500. Subsequently the discovery of oil was made, and in 1856 the same place sold for over a quarter of a million of dollars. Mr. Kerr received his education at the old Erie academy, and spent several years in this city. While a student here he conceived a passion for a Miss Coover, a school mistress of this city, and immediately after his graduation, he being at the time only about 17 years of age, he married her, and soon after went west, where he stayed about two years, at the end of which time he returned and claimed his bride. The marriage in the meantime had been kept a secret at his request, and his friends were greatly astonished to learn that he was married, and to a lady several years his senior. During his absence in the west his wife fell out of a window and received injuries which marred the beauty of her face. Notwithstanding the gloomy prophecies of his friends the match turned out to be a fortunate one.

The Way Sunset Cox Did It.

Washington Correspondence of the New York World.

At this juncture a member of the house entered and announced the second ballot as follows: Kerr, 77; Randall, 63; Cox, 20; Savler, 1. Mr. Kerr was seated with his left arm leaning on the table, tapping it with a pencil. He did not lift his head. Mr. Cox, turning to Mr. Hewitt, of New York, authorizing him in a low tone to re-enter the caucus at once and advise his friends to divert their votes to Mr Kerr. Then, with his cigar between his fingers, his hat on his head and his own peculiar unaffected air, he advanced to Mr. Kerr's side and said very simply: "Mr. Kerr, understand that in this contest I have been actuated by motives no less pure than yours. I, too, have self-respect and the truest regard for democratic principle. My friends tendered to me their unsolicited services; their pledges were valued. It now appears that their endeavors do not avail me. I have, therefore, already advised them to assist your election. But so far am I from desiring that you should add any motive in this advice that I am perfectly willing to be put back on my committee on rules."

NOTICE.

TO THE PUBLIC.

NO institution of this age is more fraught with injury to the commercial public than so-called Commercial Agencies. When in the honest endeavor to maintain our credit, and amply supported by friends and means, without a dollar even being protested, and without ever asking for an extension of our papers, we waked up to the mortification and surprise of an attack upon our credit by J. M. Bradstreet & Sons. Relying upon our past record to sustain us against such assault, we pressed on prepared to do even a larger business, as we had opportunity and invitation to extend our trade. But we soon found our credit weakened, by these reports, and it took sacrifices to support it, trusting that our payment of every dollar falling due, even discounting our own paper when suspicious men tried our strength would cause clamor and rumor to cease, we pressed every resource even to the use of personal friends. Having never asked extension, or come to protest, until to-day, we felt that it was wiser to surrender to circumstances than involve personal friends farther, and consequently have succumbed to what was unavoidable and sold out our stock to Mr. Albert H. Thompson, whom we commend to our patrons, hoping he may have a smoother road than we. To our creditors we can only say we regret more deeply than they do this unexpected disaster to all our hopes, efforts and sacrifices. We have paid thousands upon thousands of dollars to our creditors perhaps when more experienced men would have stopped. We can only say we done our best under our circumstances.

IT cost $41,000,000 last year to support "our army," and yet it killed only thirty-nine Indians—more than a million a piece for dead Indians. Too much by half, and Mr. Grant must hurry up his war or we shall dispense with his soldiers.

CHURCH property is taxed in California, and this was brought about by the heathen. The Chinese availed themselves of the exemption of church property to evade taxation on their joss-houses, which are very numerous and mainly merely opium smokers resorts; and to prevent this it was necessary to make general the taxation of all real estate used for religious purposes.

IT seems probable that Great Britain will soon quietly absorb the two Dutch republics in South Africa. The rulers of these republics have consented to enter into consultation with the view of forming a South African confederation similar to that of Canada. Thus Eng and is quietly extending its immense empire without the expenditure of blood or of much money.

PRINCE CHARLES, of Solms-Braunfels, a nephew of the late Queen Louisa of Prussia, died on the 13th of November in Krueznach, Germany, at the age of 63 years. In 1843 he came to the United States and founded, among other colonies in Texas, the town of New Braunfels, which is still a flourishing German community. On his return to Germany, in 1845, he married the widow of Prince Francis of Salm-Salm and led the life of a soldier.

CARD. NAL MCCLOSKEY secured all while in Rome toward the building of the cathedral in Fifth avenue. He says that the building will be completed before the end of 1877. He gave the order while in Italy, for an altar to be placed in the cathedral at a cost of $250,000. It will be of the finest Italian marble, spacious, and of the Gothic style of architecture, and plentifully decorated with jewels and mosaics. The work is already under way, and will be imported before many months.

THE Florida Guardian says that Tampa has shipped about 100,000 oranges. Upon which the Palatka Herald says: "From our knowledge of that section, we judge that this shipment is just the beginning. THE Rev. J L Townsend, the new chaplain of the house in congress, who, according to the Hon. Mr. Barnum, suffered martyrdom in the shape of exile at the hands of the Connecticut republicans during the war, was formerly a Danbury rector and teacher, of extreme southern views, and was not "driven from the state" at all, but chose to leave on account of "incompatibility" of disposition and temper on the part of himself and his parishioners.—[Brooklyn Union.

IT is not often that a man finds two avenues to justice open to him simultaneously, but such is the fortune of General Babcock Between the civil and military courts every shadow of doubt overhanging this double barreled public servant—his exact relations to the army which have so much perplexed us, his responsibility as a citizen which nobody understands; his sudden accumulation of vast wealth on the salary of a major of engineers, which is an unfathomed mystery of mathemat es and economy—should all be removed and the country made happier.

HERE is a candidate that may give Grant some trouble. The Rev. W. E. Matthews, of Noble county, Ohio, announces himself as a candidate for the presidency on these excellent grounds: "Some months ago," he says, "I was strongly impressed in mind that this nation needed just such a man as I am at the head of the government, because my principles are really patriotic and philanthropic, &c." His platform is equally simple. It is: "The taxation of coods, the issue of sufficient greenbacks to pay off the national debt at once, the exclusion of Catholics from office and the preservation of distilleries." All that Mr. Matthews lacks is a military record.

THE state seal of Indiana, which represents "a full grown buffalo bull deliberately rushing up to a granger who is chopping down a tree at sun rise," is not by any means the most remarkable of the devices employed for that purpose. Georgia offers something more astonishing in the picture of an absurd summer house supported by three pillars and guarded by a continental soldier with weak legs; and Kentucky actually presents a figure of General Washington in the act of holding up an intoxicated friend, in order to keep him from falling against a bookcase in the background. After this California's device of Miserva sitting on a stone, while a cinnamon bear nibbles her left leg, seems artistic and nice.

GRANT AND BABCOCK.

The refusal of Mr. Glover to act as counsel in the whisky frauds trials will call public attention in the strongest possible manner to Grant's dismissal of Mr. Henderson from the cases. The whisky men of St. Louis are said to be jubilant. McKee and Maguire have succeeded in getting their cases postponed until the first Monday in January, and the goose begins to hang altitudilam again—thanks to the president.

Let us understand this matter clearly. We will first introduce all that Mr. Henderson did say in summing up the Avery case touching the president or his official household:

What right had Babcock to go to Douglass to induce him to withdraw his agents? Douglass was placed in his position to see that the revenue laws of the government were properly enforced. What business, then, had Douglass with him? When an official goes into office, he should be free and independent of all influences except that of law, and if he recognizes any other master, then this government is tumbling down. What right has the president to interfere with Commissioner Douglass in the proper discharge of his duties, or with the treasury? None; and Douglass showed a lamentable weakness of character when he listened to Babcock's dictates. He should either have insisted that his orders as they existed be carried out, or should have resigned his office.

Why did Douglass bend the supple hinges of the knee and permit any interference by the president? This was Douglass' own business and he stood responsible for it under his official oath. He was bound to listen to no dictation from the president, Babcock or any other officer, and it was his duty to see that that order was carried out, or to resign. Would that we had officials who possessed more of that sterner stuff of which the office holders of olden times were made. Why do they not leave their office when they cannot remain there honorably? Is it to continue that because a man holds an office at the hands of another he is to be a bonded slave. It is little that our nation has gained by abolition if the black man is freed only that the white man be place in the ignominious chains which are now an attendant of public office. Henry Clay made himself immortal in the one saying, "I would rather be right than be president." It is a sentiment worth all the baubles of the day, and of itself should entitle him who uttered it to immortality. But Douglass yielded. The speaker did not believe him dishonest; but he was poor, and was frightened by the thought that his tenure of office depended on his obedience to the behests of the higher powers.

That was all. There was not another sentence in the lawyer's plea before the jury that the president could object to. Neither Mr. Henderson nor District-Attorney Dyer considered the speech outside of propriety. It did not accuse the president of knowledge of the frauds or of any participation in them. And yet the man who is every day the subject of gross personal attacks, flew into a rage over Mr. Henderson's mild sentences, pronouncing them an outrage and straightway ordering the dismissal of the lawyer who had nobly done his duty.

What is the meaning of all this? Mr Henderson did denounce in unmeasured terms Babcock. He did declare his intention to connect Babcock with the conspiracy. Grant declares that Babcock is innocent. Hence to save Babcock the invincible lawyer must be dismissed, and it must be done in such a way that his successor will perceive that a conviction is not desired by the "higher powers." Instead of aiding Mr. Henderson to bring the guilty to punishment, he peremptorily dismissed him just when he was best equipped to serve the country in a very important way. This theory of Grant's strange conduct may not be a just one, but it is one that forces itself on the mind of every man who looks carefully into the matter.

The trials, or rather the convictions, may be regarded as over. No new man can take up the complicated threads of evidence so as to become such a prosecutor as the able courageous advocate that the president has dismissed. The juries will be sure to hereafter disagree. "The sun shines" again, and the gorgeous Babcock is to be saved at the expense of the nation's disgrace and the ring's ultimate triumph.

"So extraordinary an interference," says the New York Herald, "with the course of justice as President Grant has ventured on in this case, will naturally attract the attention of the house of representatives, which is charged by the constitution with a peculiar supervision over the conduct of the president. Any proceedings against him affecting the duration of his office must originate in that body, and there are few graver offences than an intrusion by the president into the proceedings of the judicial department of the government. The courts have always been held to be as sacred against such interference as the proceedings of either house of congress. The president has no more right to punish an attorney for what he may say in court than to punish a member of congress for words spoken in debate, both being equally privileged by law. We do not know what view the house may take of this extraordinary conduct of the president after full inquiry; but, the house will doubtless think it a duty to order an investigation."

SENATOR MAXEY, of Texas, has presented the memorial of the Texas constitutional convention, asking for government protection on the Rio Grande. Texas has paid out for this purpose of guarding her frontier, $932,000 since the war, and $500,000 last year. Gen. Ord favors an increased force. The present strength is only five companies, and Gen. Maxey says three regiments of cavalry are needed, with five posts between the mouth of the Rio Grande and Laredo, and constant patrolling. Mr. Maxey favors a special committee to consider the subject, with some lawyer at the head, to map out a plan of settlement. He does not believe that the acquisition of the country west of Texas, up to the Sierra Madre, would avoid the difficulty. The recent act of the Texas officer and his men in crossing the frontier to pursue the Mexican cattle raiders is not specially distasteful to the president.

THE following we clip from the Augusta Constitutionalist:

BRAVO! Colonel Hancock, editor of the Sumter Republican, sounds this clarion: "From our own garden on the first day of the present month, English peas, Irish potatoes, squash, butter beans, tomatoes, radish, lettuce and strawberries—all fine for the season. All honor to our better half." Mrs. Hancock will spoil that man if she does not take care.

Not at all! Such a woman makes a man. And we can testify from pleasant experience that Mrs. H. is not only an fait in the vegetable garden, but can also arrange as beautiful a boquet of rare flowers as any young lady in the state. There now!

AMONG the nominations sent to the senate last Thursday were the following: Ayres P. Merrill, of Mississippi, minister resident to Belgium; Geo. W. Emery, of Tennessee, governor of Utah; Geo. B. Chamberlain, supervisor of internal revenue; J. L. Conley, collector of internal revenue for the fourth district of Georgia; Andrew Clark, for the second district of Georgia; Charles Lee, surveyor at Augusta, and B. G. Conley, postmaster at Atlanta. None of these have been confirmed.

TWEED, THE FUGITIVE.

The method of the Boss' escape has been vigorously investigated during the past week, but the mysteries of the case remain unsolved. It was so dexterously planned and consummated that the detectives are as much in the fog as they are in the search for Charley Ross. It is understood that the grand jury did not find sufficient evidence upon which to form an indictment of any one for allowing Tweed to escape, although they will probably make a presentment relative to the loose management of the jail in which Tweed was supposed to be confined.

The sheriff is confident that his former prisoner is in the city or within twenty-five miles of it. He does not beleive that any yacht or other vessel has carried him out to sea. A search of suspected quarters is kept up without relaxation, while a watch is kept on all outgoing steamers that present any cause for suspicions. If Tweed is still in the country it will be difficult for him to escape from it.

He is charged with forgery and embezzlement of public moneys, which come within the terms of most of our extradition treaties. The United States has, altogether, extradition treaties with fifteen governments—eight European, two West Indian, and one each with a Central American, Southern American and south African. We have also similar international engagements with Mexico and the Sandwich Islands. The European governments are Great Britain, (including its colonies and dependencies,) France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Norway and Sweden, the Swiss Confederation, and Belgium. Of course, all these countries are closed against Tweed, unless he is willing to assume great risk. but Portugal, Holland, Denmark, Russia, Spain, Greece and Turkey are open, besides the West Indian islands of Cuba, Porto Rico, St. John and St. Croix, the two latter belonging to Denmark We have no extradition treaty with the powers just enumerated, nor with Brazil, Chili, Honduras, Peru, Ecuador, Guatemala, Argentine Confederation, Costa Rica, the United States of Colombia (Isthmus of Panama), China, or Japan, Therefore, there is a very wide field to select from, if Tweed once gets beyond the clutches of the law.

SOME of the points of Gen. Grant's message are the subjects of curious comment in Washington. The president goes to some pains to recommend the abolition of small packages from the mails. At first sight, the provision has a look of economic thrift which would be apt to strike the reforming mind favorably, but when it is brought to mind that the forcing of the packages from the mails would leave the work in the hands of the express companies, and when it is remembered that the principal express man is W. B. Dinsmore, the friend, and said to be the creditor, of the president, the recommendation loses some of its fine front of economy. Mr. Dinsmore is reported to have lent Gen. Grant $20,000. In return, the president asks congress to increase Mr. Dinsmore's business by forcing people to send all small packages by the costly medium of the express.

Another point which the message makes may have an equally disinterested origin. He is desirous that American women marrying foreigners, and children born on alien soil may be protected by American law. It will be remembered that the president has a daughter in this condition; and that is probably why we have this extraordinary topic thrust into so grave a document as the message. Whatever the president's motives may have been, the town is talking about the business, and basing comment on the general's well known purpose of using his office for the benefit of his friends.

THE Columbus Enquirer thus describes the new governent of its city:

Mr. S. B. Cleghorn was yesterday elected mayor of Columbus over Col. F. G. Wilkins by a respecuable majority, regarding the number of votes polled. This is the third time he has been elected to the highest municipal office in the gift of the city. Mr. Cleghorn is about 35 years of age. He is a native of Columbus, and prior to 1865, when the freedom of slaves was declared, he was one of the wealthiest young men of Georgia. Since he has sustained serious reverses of fortune. He lost a leg and several fingers while fighting for the confederacy at the battle of the Wilderness, being at that time a lieutenant. His collegiate education was obtained at the University of Georgia. By the prudent, wise and conciliatory course which he is certain to adopt, all parties will be combined to support and aid him in the advancement of the city. A good council has been elected, and the two will act in concert and derive from common consultation the best possible good.

THE cost of changing the guage between Charlotte and Greensboro was $50,769. The earnidgs of the North Carolina railroad company during the past year were $595,429; expenses, $409,756; decrease of net earnings for the year, $55,584. Short crops and hard times caused the losses. Col. Buford, after considerable opposition, was elected president of the Richmond and Danville railroad company.

THE one hundred and seventy odd gentlemen in the house of representatives, each of whom of course expects a chairmanship, or a place on the Pacific railroad committee, are the wasting victims of the Speaker's slowness and deliberation. The dreadful silence will be broken this week.

THE Hawkinsville Despatch hopes that Judge Pate of the Oconee circuit will be his own successor because the people of that circuit so desire. The Augusta Chronicle, on the other hand, presents Col. John M. Stubbs, of Laurens, for the place.

A LATE Washington special says that a resolution has been prepared by a prominent southern congressman, a gentleman who was an officer of the Confederate army, and has been for many years a recognized democratic leader in the south, declaring in full and definite terms that the confederate war debt shall never be recognized or assumed by the United States; that no claims for slaves freed during and by the war shall ever be esteemed lawful, and that the national credit must be ever kept unimpaired. This will be submitted to the house at an early day, and the utmost confidence is expressed that it will be adopted with but feeble dissect. The dispatch adds that "the ex-Confederates are themselves apparently particularly anxious to avail themselves of an opportunity to disabuse the public mind of an erroneous impression on these points." If this should be done the last nail will be driven into the coffin which contains the decomposing remains of the southern "bloody shirt." Who will care for Morton then?

The message will disappoint public expectation on the Cuban question. The president handles it elaborately, but leaves it exactly where he found it. He thinks the time has not come either for recognizing the independence of Cuba, or the belligerent rights of those who have been so long engaged in a war to deliver the island from the yoke of Spain, nor for intervention by the United States in any mode whatever. This portion of the message will please the Spanish Dons, both in this country and in Europe, and doubtless Mr. Caleb Cushing furnished this portion of the message for a good round fee from some quarter. He is capable of writing a conclusive answer to it, and probably would do so on call, for a fair compensation.—N. Y. Sun.

THE VIRGINIA GRAB-BAG.

A Resolution Looking to a Conclusion of the Interminable Ballot.

RICHMOND, VA., December 13.—Afternoon session. After the summary disposition of numerous resolutions looking to the bringing of the conference down to real business, a resolution was adopted providing that all resolutions to be voted for should be placed in nomination, and the one receiving the lowest vote on each ballot be dropped, and persons so dropped, to be renominated twice, and if any person be withdrawn after being nominated, he should be renominated once only. Recess of one hour for dinner.

RICHMOND, Dec. 13.—On the reassembling of the conference the name of Judge James Christian, of the supreme court, was added to the list.

Before the balloting was resumed, the names of Coghill, Flournoy, Sheffy, Harris and Christian were withdrawn to be renominated in accordance with a resolution passed this morning.

ROVING WILLIE.

Tweed's Case up in Court—Attempt to Declare a Forefture of Bond.

NEW YORK, Dec, 13—A motion was made by the district-attorney in the court of oyer and terminer to forfeit the recognizances of Wm. M. Tweed in various indictments found against him for conspiracy and forgery. Mr. Field represented Mr. Charles Derlin, one of the bondsmen, and when the latter was called on to produce Tweed, his counsel handed in an affidavit, showing cause why the recognizance should not be forfeited, setting forth that the plaintiffs made it impossible themselves, for the bondsmen to produce the defendant, and after recognizances were entered into, the plaintiffs took the defendant out of the bondsmen's hands on civil suit and turned him over to the sheriff and that the claim on Mr. Derlin was unfounded and should fail. The district-attorney argued that it was the duty of the court to order the forfeiture and Mr. Fields points could be argued at the general term, and also, that the bonds were merely suspended by the imprisonment of Tweed on civil suits. The court reserved its decision until Monday.

A CAUTIONARY CAUCUS.

Reduction of Expenses and Honest Government to be Insisted Upon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Col. Lamar presided at the democratic caucus to day, Banning, of Ohio, and Robbins, of North Carolina, acting as secretaries.

Mr. Waddell, of North Carolina, offerred a resolution for the appointment by the chairman of a democratic executive committee to consist of three senators, six representatives and three citizens of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Cox, of New York, offered a resolution providing for the appointment by the chairman of a committee of eleven members to suggest to the caucus, at a future meeting, such a line of policy or action on public measures as would best serve the interests of the country.

These resolutions, after debate were agreed to.

There was harmony of views with regard to the duty of the majority of the house, and all agreed that they should, as far as possible, effect a reduction of taxation, and that the government should be honestly and economically administered. Much responsibility devolved upon the majority of the house. Although the senate was not politically in accord with them, the country desired the stoppage of corruption and wasteful expenditures, and democracy could not expect the people to stand by them unless they stood by the people.

No business apart from that above mentioned was considered, and the caucus, after remaining in session an hour and a half, adjourned.

A LAND SLIDE.

An Immense Land Swindle Unearthed—$30,000,000 Involved.

ST. LOUIS, December 13.—A stupendous land swindle has just been unearthed in northeastern Missouri. It appears that deeds to lands in northern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri have been forged for some years past, and that agencies for this work were established in Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York and Manchester, England. It if estimated that deeds to over 1,200,000 acres of land have been disposed of, valued at from twenty-five to thirty millions of dollars. The land operated upon is owned by non-residents, and as the records were mostly destroyed during the war, the ring had every facility to carry out the enormous swindle. Deeds have been sold all over the United States and England. The grand jury of Sharman county have indicted Dr. Thos. K. Harmon, Davis S. Bingham, and Jas. S. Lawton for complicity in the frauds. Lawton seems to have been the leader of the swindlers, and operated extensively in England.

ON LAND AND SEA.

An Expensive Blaze—The Bremerhaven Explosion—Vanyards Carried Away, Etc.

NORFOLK, December 13.—The Norwegian brig, Norven, from Havana for Falmouth, loaded with sugar, put in here, with foremast, fore and mainyards carried away. She will have to discharge part of her cargo.

BERLIN, December 13.—The total killed by the explosion, 57; wounded, 33; mostly Bremerhaven spectators. It was reported, that the man who delivered the box, had planned the explosion to take place on the ocean.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—A report came from Bremen to-day that the passenger who attempted to commit suicide, and whose name is Thomas Head, confessed that there was another case of explosive material on board the Mosel; that it was provided with a clock work apparatus which was timed to explode it in eight days when the Mosel would be in mid ocean, that he intended to land at Southampton, and that his object was to destroy the steamer so he could claim a large insurance which he had effected. A later dispatch from Bremen pronounces the horrible story untrue. The case spoken of has been opened by the police and found to contain nothing explosive or dangerous, as reported.

MILTON, December 13.—A fire originated in the Riverside house to-day. Loss, $100,000.

LONDON, December 13.—The schooner Hortense from Charleston, before reported stranded at Toreko, has arrived at Elsinore.

WHISKY'S SEDUCTIONS.

What the Ring has Accomplished in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 12.—The entire morning session of the court was occupied in hearing the evidence of Jno W. Bingham, whose appearance on the witness stand was the signal for some interesting revelations regarding persons and matters directly connected with the Indiana whisky ring, of which he was the leading spirit and prime mover. With reference to Mr. Hill, the witness observed that he had known him as the revenue officer for about two years, and had told Lewis and others of his employees not to fear the defendant in the capacity of government official, as he was all right. Witness paid the defendant regularly on the first of every month for not peaching on him, and his average assessment for keeping the government officials mum, was $25 per week. These bribes were given to Hill at Bingham's office, in Evansville. Bingham also related in detail the circumstances of his having given Simon T. Powell, revenue supervisor, a gold watch and chain on the occasion of the latter's visit to Louisville he said that when he presented the watch and chain, he did it for a purpose, knowing the official character of Rowell, and that such a gift might benefit him some time. Bingham stated that he had received occasional letters from Hill with reference to the whisky irregularities, but could not produce any of them. He also observed that about one-third of the whisky he manufactured was crooked, and even then he lost so heavily as to necessitate the shutting down of the St. Louis distillery. Hiram Brownlee was given five hundred dollars by witness on the occasion of his attending the marriage of Henry Veatch, at Evansville. With reference to Charles E. Marsh, railroad agent, debating a whole day as to whether he would accept the bribe for making false entries of whisky shipped. Witness said that Marsh did not hesitate 30 seconds. Gen. Veach was then recalled and examined at considerable length. Philip Givens testified to the shipment of a number of barrels of whisky from Pataula without stamps, and when the matter was reported, he said he could not make a case out of it. With the latter witnesses, the evidence for the prosecution closed and the evidence for the defence was commenced. Gen. Veach, James H. McNicely, formerly postmaster at Evansville, and several gentlemen from Evansville and Rockfort were examined and testified to the good character of the defendant before this indictment.

ON THE AVENUE.

Grant's Southern Message—Pinchback Passed Over—The Grant Parish Case, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Broadhead's commission as successor to Henderson has been forwarded to St. Louis.

The message which the president will shortly send to congress on southern affairs will relate principally to the late troubles in Mississippi and the mode of conducting elections in that state, the information having been gathered by persons designated for that purpose.

The chief justice has announced that the supreme court would adjourn from Friday next to the third of January.

Judge Bradley's decision in the Grant parish cases will almost certainly be sustained when the opinion is framed. The difficulty is with the manner of framing it.

The vote on admitting Pinchback was due to day by postponement from last session, but though the candidate was present no official notice whatever was taken of him or his case.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—In the supreme court No. 3 was an original suit of the state of Florida vs. Anderson, Holland and others. This is a suit by the state to enforce its lien upon the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile railroad under a mortgage made in 1870 in exchange for state bonds issued in aid of the road. By this exchange the state took three millions of the first mortgage bonds of the road, and one million of the bonds of the Florida Central railroad company, on consideration of its issue to the company of four millions of bonds to hasten the completion of certain roads, which had been consolidated in pursuance of the act incorporating it, and authorizing the aid. The interest on these bonds not being paid, and a balance remaining due on a trustees sale made in interest of the state to the company of certain of the roads that were consolidated, this suit was brought, and the decision is that the defendants ought to be enjoined from selling, taking possession of or interfering with the line of railroad extending from Lake city to the Chattahoochee river and from Tallahassee to St. Marks so as to impede or obstruct the state in taking possession and procuring it to be condemned and sold in payment of the purchase money and interest claimed. The receiver of the property heretofore appointed is continued until the property is turned over to the proper authorities.

Mr. Justice Bradley delivered the opinion.

IN CONGRESS.

A Call for Information in the Senate Opposed by the Radicals.

WASHINGTON, December 13.—Senator Davis, of West Virginia, submitted a resolution citing the law requiring a report to be made to congress annually of persons indebted to the government; a list of defaulters and amount of defalcation, &c., and calling upon the secretary of the treasury to inform the senate why such reports have not been made.

The republicans fought hard against immediate action.

Sherman moved its reference to the committee on finance.

The democrats retorted that several such resolutions were buried there already. It was finally postponed until to-morrow.

On motion of Conover, the views of the secretary of war were asked on the importance, practicability and probable cost of improving the channel at the entrance at Cumberland Sound, Florida.

Merrimon of North Carolina, introduced a bill to repeal section 4716 of the revised statutes, which forbids the payment of certain pensions; referred to committee on pension. Also, a bill to repeal so much of section 3580, of the revised statutes, as forbids the payment of the accounts, claims and demands therein named, and all laws and clauses of laws forbidding the payment thereof. Judiciary. The bill refers to claims and demands against the United States which occurred or existed prior to the 13th day of April, 1861, in favor of every person who promoted or encouraged, or in any manner sustained the late revolution, it further authorizes the settlement of such claims and appropriates $400,000 for that purpose. The executive session adjourned.

Confirmations are: Pratt as commissioner of internal revenue; Tobley post-master at Boston; Buell commissioner of patents; Emory, governor of Utah; Goodand, post-master at Portland, Maine.

Nominations are: R M Orrell post-master at Fayetteville, North Carolina; Samuel G Bidwell, Yazoo City Miss.; J D McAdoo, Marshal Texas; Wm. T White, collector of customs, St. Marks, Florida.

HOUSE.—Appointments by Chief Clerk Green Adams of Ky., are Wm. O Reeves, Texas, librarian.

SONS OF SATAN.

One Fails, Another Throwing an Engine off the Track, and the Last One is Acquitted.

BOSTON, Dec. 13.—Fresland, Harding & Loams have failed. Their liabilities are $70,000. C. M. Freeham, a special partner, is also reported to have failed having endorsed for the firm for half a million.

PROVIDENCE, December 13.—The night mail train for New York was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch, evidently an attempt to wreck the train, as a bolt was drawn and the switch changed by unknown parties. Nobody hurt.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—In the United States criminal court before Judge Benedict, Charles T. Laurence was indicted for smuggling silks through the custom house. He was arraigned and plead not guilty to counts 1, 2, 7, and 8 charging him with forgery, but refused to plead to counts 3, 4, 5, 6, 9 and 10 charging him with passing false papers on the United States officers, on the ground that he had not been extradited for that offense. The court ordered a plea of not guilty to be entered for him.

Fleet Excitement.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 13.—It is now considered certain that the great $30,000 race will come off Christmas day, the weather permitting. All the horses are in good condition; except Wild Idle and Grimstead. The former will not run, and Foster is coming from Oregon to take his place. Grimstead will no doubt be all right in time for the race. It is probable that not less than six horses will start.

A Heart-Broken Father.

NEW YORK, December 13.—The funeral of Ed. H. Stokes, father of Edward Stokes, took place to-day. As far as could be ascertained, Edward S. Stokes did not attend the funeral, although application had been made to the governor to allow him 24 hours leave of absence from the state prison, in order to give him an opportunity to be present.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

A General Reduction of Expenses to Be Enforced by the New House.

The Estimates to Be Cut Down at Least $50,000,000

WASHINGTON, December 8, 1875.

"The book of estimates," as it is called, is officially designated "Letter from the secretary of the treasury transmitting estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1877," and is a very interesting document as well as a very important one. The total estimates are $310,000,000, an increase of seven or eight millions over those for the current year. They will however, undergo a thorough revision and cutting down by congress, and a total reduction of $50,000,000 is regarded as both feasible and probable. In this reduction the south as usual will be the largest sufferer. The estimates however, will show what it is proposed to do for Georgia and Florida, and I give below the official facts and figures:

For salaries and expenses of collectors of internal revenue of Georgia—

First district	$ 9,500
Second district	11,000
Third district	11,000
Fourth district	11,000

For expenses and salaries of the surveyor general of Florida $6,200.

The original act of this surveying district provides $3,500 for clerks' hire and $1,000 for contingent expenses. These amounts being made greater the present estimates are submitted as absolutely required for the service. An increased estimate for clerks' hire is rendered necessary for current business and arrears of office rents.

For continuation of building custom house and postoffice at Atlanta, $35,000.

For rebuilding the front beacon at Sapelo island, Georgia, $2,500.

For completing the work at Fort Jackson Savannah river, $8,000.

For continuing operations at Fort Pulaski, mouth of Savannah river, $50,000.

Fort Taylor and batteries, Key West, Florida. Protection of cases face from further incroachments from the sea, $25,000. Construction of the batteries, $25,000.

Fort Jefferson, Garden Key, Florida. Completing covering of barbette magazines and for modification of revenge of the renter, and other provisions for the health of the garrison, $25,000.

Fort Pickens, Pensacola harbor. Continuation of earthern barbette batteries, $50,000.

Fort McKee, Pensacola harbor. Continuation of earthern barbette batteries, $50,000.

For continuing the improvement of the harbor at Cedar Keys, Florida, $30,000.

For continuing the improvement of the Chattahoochee and Flint rivers, Georgia, $50,000.

For continuing the improvement of Savannah harbor.

For continuing the improvement of the Oostanaula and Coosawattee rivers, Georgia, $13,000.

For continuing the improvement of the inside passage between Fernandina and St. John's, Florida, $5,000.

These estimates for river and harbor improvements will all be largely reduced if not entirely stricken out. There is talk of having no river and harbor bill this session, in which case the various state delegations must do what they can by separate bills. The strings of the money bags will, however, be held very tight this year. Economy and retrenchments are the watchwords of the hour.

THE CHAMPION IDIOT

among those who send letters from Washington to rural papers has been discovered. His nonde plume is "Now and Then," and he is an "occasional correspondent," of the Detroit Evening News. He proceeds to tell how Wilson's death may be turned to account by the democracy, and says—an unmitigated barefaced lie—that "leading democrats have been inspired with the thought that the death of the vice president may be turned to their advantage, and made to produce a fourth revolution in the administration of the government." Let me quote further:

"You must have remarked with what zeal and pertinacity the democratic press, especially at the south, and its correspondents here, have insisted that the senate was without a president pro tem. when Gen. Wilson died, Mr. Ferry's term having expired with the last session of the senate. If they could establish this fact, no other obstacle than Gen. Grant would stand between the democracy and the presidency.

The constitution and the law provided that in case of a vacancy in the offices of president and vice-president, the president of the senate becomes acting president of the United States. If there be no president of the senate, then the speaker of the house becomes acting president and he will be in the democratic. In that event, the administration of the government passes into the hands of the democratic party."

He then proceeds to discuss murder as a political agency, and intimates that the assassination of Grant will be next in order, thus giving to the democrats control of the government. That such an idiot as this exists and is able to write letters from Washington which are published in Detroit, is convincing proof that the fool killer in making his rounds has omitted those two cities. When he does visit them, Detroit will lose an editor and the Evening News of that city an "occasional correspondent."

THE COMMITTEES.

Georgia had a poor showing in the house committees of the last congress. Whiteley was on the committees on manufactures and public expenditures; Blount on manufactures, Young on military, Cook on militia, Rawls on revolutionary pensions, Harris on mines and mining, and Bell on coinage, weights and measures. Young was also a member of the select committee on the centennial, and Hon. Alex. H. Stephens on the committee on the revision of the laws. These are all minor committees, save the military and revision of the laws, and Gen. Young and Whiteley, it will be observed, are the only members of the delegation who served on more than one committee. In the present congress Georgia will be entitled to at least one chairmanship. It is assumed that this will fall to Mr. Stephens, and that he will be made chairman of the committee on the revision of the laws, and given a good place on the ways and means committee, But as it is doubtful whether Mr. Stephens will be able to attend to his duties here this winter, some other disposition may be made. There are Messrs. Cook, Harris and Blount, members of the last house, who are entitled to promotion, and one of them, at least, should be given a chairmanship. As one of the first of the southern states to redeem herself from carpet-bag rule, Georgia is entitled to recognition. Her delegation, by the way, is regarded here as a particularly strong and able one.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Ex-Congressman Rawls, of Savannah, arrived here last week. He is said to be "looking for something," but I believe has not found it yet.

Hon. Alex. H. Stephens will have a chairmanship, probably that of the committee on the revision of the laws, if he is able to attend to his congressional duties this winter.

Gen. P. M. B. Young arrived here a day or two before the caucus, looking handsomer than ever. He went to work with a vim for Sam Randall, and a helping hand to DuBose, but hadn't the satisfaction of winning on either.

The general opinion here seems to be that DuBose should have had the clerkship. At one time it looked as if the south was going to be gouged out of everything. DuBose can be a mighty good fellow and not half try, but he can't come down to button-holing and the small tricks by which votes are usually captured.

Mr. McDougal, an ex-member of the Georgia legislature, from Chattahoochee county, is here and an applicant for place under the house. The state delegation have been caucussing at the capital today for the purpose of deciding their patronage. The worst part of the business is that there are not offices enough to go around. There is less than one appointment for each M. C.

THOMAS HAUCK.

Ex-Confederates in Congress.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The confederate congress is represented in the forty-fourth congress of the United States by John Goode, Jr., of Virginia; Thomas S. Ashe, of North Carolina; Ben H. Hill, of Georgia; Otho R. Singleton, of Mississippi; Robert A. Hatcher, of Missouri; John D. C. Atkins, of Tennessee; and A. T. Caperton, of West Virginia; Mr. Fitzhugh, of Texas, who was the sergeant-at-arms in the confederate congress; and although the democratic nominee for chaplain, the Rev. J. L. Townsend, was never in the confederate service, he was forced to vacate his rectorship in Connecticut because he refused to read prayers for the president and for the success of the union arms.

The confederate army has furnished a goodly squad of recruits for the forty-fourth congress. Lanman, in the preface to his skeleton sketches of the new congress, says that "twenty-six served in the confederate army." But the official rosters of the C. S. A. in the archives of the war department tell a different story, and show that among the "wearers of the gray" were: Adj. Gen. George Goldthwaite, Brig. Gen. W. H. Forney, Col. Paul Bradford, Col. G. W. Hewitt, Col. B. B. Lewis, and Maj. J. N. Williams, of Alabama; Brig. Gen. W. F. Slemons, Col. L. F Gause and Maj. Thomas W. Gunter, of Arkansas; Maj. Gen. J. H. Gordon, Col. J. Hartridge, Col. P.

TOWN TOPICS.

—James' bank yesterday was a busy scene. The depositors of the Freedman's Savings bank were getting their "divvy."

—Decatur has a wedding to-day, Covington to-morrow, and Griffin the next day. The cyclone is spreading.

—The delegates to the district convention of Good Templars at Barnesville, will leave to-day.

—The first noon passenger train on the Georgia road left yesterday, with a full list of passengers. The model conductor, Mike Welsh, was in charge.

—Quite a number of delegates left yesterday evening for Chicago. Among the number were Col B W Frobell and Dr Geo Little.

—The report that the Atlanta Fire Insurance company lost $5,000 by a recent fire in Louisville, Ky., is not true, from the fact that the company has no risks there.

—A gentleman ran a race with the Covington accommodation train yesterday morning, and felt hurt because he didn't beat it a hundred yards.

—It is said that a leading banker of this city has written a letter to the meeting of ladies and gentlemen at Dr Westmoreland's, to say now, advocating the ladies' educational and industrial school.

—A Methodist divine not long ago preached from this text: "I am jealous with Godly jealousy"—not about jealousy however. He dodged that question and took a correct view of the duties of husband and wife.

—It is not definitely known what train Sower boarded to get to Atlanta. Some think he didn't go by Newnan—we don't know—probably he will tell his wife—if he don't somebody will.

—The people of Fannin county, Georgia, are of the same opinion of the citizens of Gilmer county, that Gen. L. J. Gartrell can beat any one, one or two hundred votes in that county for governor.—Cumming Clarion.

—THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION editorially announces the arrival of the "blood of Conyers," and still the foreman of THE CONSTITUTION has recently had a correction made in the spelling of a word in Webster's dictionary.—Quitman Independent.

We congratulate the bridegroom in securing one so well calculated to render life endurable, and having for a wife one of the kindest and most accomplished ladies in all this country. May their union prove a happy one, and may the sparks of each couple meet like the mingling flames, and make but one.—Quitman Independent.

—We had quite a pleasant call on last Tuesday from the Rev. H. K. Shackleford of Atlanta, who has been sojourning for some time at Whitesburg. Mr. S. is one of the rising young authors of the South He has contributed a great deal to the realms of romance and is now at this time a regular correspondent of the Sunny South and several other literary periodicals. Mr. S. is also engaged in the great temperance cause, being one of the speakers often loved by the Good Templars to furnish their cause.—Carrollton Times.

—The other evening a novel scene was enacted at the union passenger depot. That host of conductors, Moore, of the State road, saw a country man bearing a huge box on his shoulders towards the ladies' coach. Being ready to start, Col. Moore shouts out: "take it to the baggage car, quick." The wife of the countryman was standing in the door of the car, and crooking her finger at her husband said, "You'd better bring it in here." Conductor Moore repeated the request again, but the countryman walked past him, and entering the ladies' coach, put the box down in the center. Conductor Moore says that woman's head was level, for the box contained their rations for a long journey, and she was not going to be cut off from her supplies.

The Collectorship.

He will assume the duties to-morrow, the 15th. The clerks and other officers have not yet been named, but will be at an early day.

MAYSON & NORMAN will have one of the largest sales of the season Saturday morning. Attend.

MACON MATTERS.

What Madame Rumor Says About Reported Failures.

What is Reported of an Ex-Bank President.

Rumors have been circulating for some time on our streets relative to reported failures in our sister city, Macon, but THE CONSTITUTION strictly adhering to its settled policy of not giving currency to mere rumors, refrained from giving publicity to any of them. But now there seems to be some ground for them, judging by the following extracts:

"We learn from reliable sources that Col. Lawton, treasurer of the Georgia agricultural society, has absconded with upward of $5,000, funds of the society. Bad, very bad!"—Rome Commercial, 12th.

"We were in Macon Tuesday, and found a general depression in business there as well as everywhere else, though there is no excitement, and nearly every business is on so firm a foundation that they will go through the hard times with only temporary inconvenience.

There was some feeling in town concerning the affairs of the Planter's bank. While the building is open, it is conceded that the bank has failed. From the exhibits, said to have been made to the meeting of stockholders, the bank can show more assets than liabilities, but it is feared that a large amount of collaterals cannot be made available. As many of the stockholders are of the best men of the city and state depositors and other creditors can lose nothing, except a little time. Mr. Lawton, of the firm of Lawton & Willingham, the ex-president, late y resigned, is thought to have greatly mismanaged the business; many think at criminal borrowing of funds. We hope his character can be vindicated, but if the hard things said of him were brought to his knowledge, he would either whip out the city or leave it forever. It was even reported that both Mr. Lawton and the late cashier had "gone to Florida for their health."

We hope the rumors of speculation are unfounded. If, however, they are true, we believe the guilty parties should be prosecuted to the extent of the law. As any rate the loss falls heavily on the stockholders, who will probably lose all their interest, and may be compelled to contribute more to pay the debts of the concern The new president and officers are straightening the affairs to the utmost of their ability—and some hope that they will be able to fill up or bridge the chasm, and resume business at an early date. The Exchange Bank of Macon, which the Planter's Bank owed about $17,000, has applied for an injunction to res rain the latter from doing business"—Houston Home Journal.

In relation to the article in the Rome Commercial, we have this to say. We are informed by those in a position to know that it is a mistake that Col. Lawton has "absconded." He went down to his plantation in Baker county. Several days ago the executive committee of the state agricultural society met here and examined the financial condition of the society. They found upon examination that Col. Lawton had $4,681 20 of the society funds. Two drafts for $20 each drawn on him were returned unpaid. He is under bond to the society, and we are assured that not only will that claim but all others be arranged in time.

While under the excitement natural y produced by the failure of the Planter's b k and the house of Lawton & Willingham, many rumors have sprung up charging crime, yet, the high character of Col. Lawton causes many to doubt the truth of these rumors. We have conversed with several gentlemen, and while they admit that there has been mismanagement, yet they do not believe him to be guilty of crime.

The amount of Lawton & Willingham's indebtedness is not stated, for they have not made any statement. The Planter's bank, it is said holds $80,000 of their paper. Col. Lawton, it is said, had $25 000 invested in the bank. We learn that the claim of the Exchange bank for $47,000 upon the Planter's bank is disputed. The directors claim that they know nothing about it.

Among those who lose by the failure of the Planter's bank is Rev J McBryde, pastor of the Baptist church, about $500, and a worthy shoe maker named Avery a large amount. There is two sides to every case, and the public should not make up a judgment until the other side can be heard from.

In regard to the rumor relative to Mayor Huff, a prominent citizen of Macon informed us yesterday that it was not true, and that with his unconquerable energy Huff would "pull through."

A GOLDEN GIFT.

A Fitting Testimonial to a Worthy Official.

Not long since we noted the fact that Mr. C.T. Campbell, long the efficient superintendent of the Southern express office here, had removed to Texas; yesterday we saw a handsome and costly evidence of the esteem felt for him by those who had long served under him and were cognizant of his worth. The gift was a gold hunting watch, a nickel stem-winder, chronographic second hand, polished case, of the make of E. Lehand, with a heavy vest chain and locket, costing $400. On the outside of the case is a monogram "C. T. C.," and the inside bears this inscription: "Presented to C. T. Campbell, superintendent, by the employees of the central division of the Southern express company, Atlanta, Ga., November 25th, 1875." The present will be forwarded to him in Texas, and will be an agreeable surprise to him.

Up in a Balloon.

Yesterday evening some 800 or 1,000 people assembled on Wall street and the vacant lot between Wall and Decatur streets, to witness a balloon ascension. One of the performers connected with a circus now in winter quarters here "went up in a balloon" for the purpose of "raising the wind." A fine breeze was blowing at the time, but he failed to get much in "the hat." The balloon was filled with hot air, and about half past four it rose several hundred feet in the air and drifted to the right of Porter's factory, where it settled down in the front yard of Mr. Tuttle, on Hunter street. As the balloon neared the top of the house the aeronaut jumped on the roof and held on to the chimney until he could get down by means of a rope. The balloon collapsed in the yard In a few minues 1,200 or 1,500 people gathered in the neighborhood, and Hunter street presented the liveliest scene since memorial day.

A Card.

ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 13, 1875.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Without any compulsion so to do, it may be proper for me to say that in my previous cards in your paper, relating to the issue between myself and some unknown slanderer, who claimed that I had received money, etc., which action has resulted in my discovery of the forgeries, I certainly did not intend to apply any part of my charges to M. H. McWhorter, Esq., as I have always found him to be a clever, and as I believed, an honest man, and do not believe that he would make a wilful statement to the public or to an individual, where private character is involved, which, was not in his estimation true. I deem this much due from me to McWhorter, and most willingly state this to the public. Mr. McWhorter having assured me that he has never stated that I ever received any money from himself, or from any one else through him, that was illegal and wrong whilst I was secretary of the senate.

Her First Birth-day.

The Greensboro Home Journal gives the following account of the celebration of the first birthday of a little girl who has many warm friends here:

"Last Wednesday was an eventful day for the little ones of Greensboro'. It was the first birth-day anniversary of Maud Clayton Townsend, who will soon leave for her new home in the "Land of Flowers." For one eventful year, the beautiful child had tried the vicissitudes of human life, and concluded to commemorate the anniversary of her advent into this world of varied woe, by giving a reception and treat to the residence of her grand-parents, and invite all her baby acquaintances to attend and give in their experience of baby life. Although the day was inclement, ten responded by their presence to this invitation. It was quite amusing to witness their meeting and greeting and critical survey of each others handsome faces and toilets. At the proper time they were ushered in to the dining hall and seated at the table in new and handsome arm-chairs and with well-filled plates before them. After the blessing the little ones quietly commenced their feast of goodies."

The following are the names of those seated at the banquet:

Miss Maud Clayton Townsend, hostess, Miss Julia Carmichael, Miss Freda Giessler, Master Freddy Barnhart, Master Hoyt Hailes, Master Harry Carmichael, Master Otto Giessler, Master Warner McCall, Master Olin Weaver, Master Eugene Carmichael, Miss Jannie Sproles.

From meeting until their dispersion, we heard not the first cry or disturbance. A handsomer, rosier or better behaved company of infants we never saw. Long may they happily live to enjoy many pleasant reunions."

The following letters are held in the Atlanta postoffice for lack of postage or insufficient address:

A Word About Buford—What Gainesville Is Doing.

A Ladies' Entertainment at Marietta

Exhibition of the Decatur High School.

BUFORD NOTES.

BUFORD, December 11, 1875.

Buford is one of the most thriving towns on the Air-Line.

The people are in doubt as to how E M. Fitzgibbons, the man that was found dead, came to his death, though the majority think it was the final result of too frequent imbibings of liquid hell-fire and distilled damnation.

Rev. T. E. Kenerly, an old citizen of Gwinnett county, is cleaning out and taking down the old sign of what was once a bar room, preparatory for a stock of new goods, not vials.

The committee appointed by the citizens of Buford to take some action in the enterprise of building a bridge across the Chattahoochee river between Buford and Cumming, determined to let out the contract to the lowest bidder.

GAINESVILLE NOTES.

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 11, 1875.

Rapid improvements are going on at Gainesville in the way of building. The large hotel on main street, just above the Richmond house, will be completed by next summer—General Longstreet's enterprise. We observed quite a number of wagons on the streets from the mountains loaded with apples and all kinds of productions.

A blind man is to give a concert at Bellton next Friday night.

Rev. John Dorsey, one of the oldest citizens of Hall county—75 years of age—is now up the Air-Line on a camp deer hunt.

The Richmond house is one of the best hotels in the city, with Mr. Craig for its proprietor.

MARIETTA AFFAIRS.

MARIETTA, Dec. 10, 1875.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: The ladies of the Methodist church held their festival last night at Nichols' Hall. There was a good attendance and a satisfactory patronage. Several of our excel ent matrons presided over the tables. They were assisted by quite a bevy of lassies, amongst whom we recognized Misses I. M., L. B., L. M., A. S., L. H., M. L., E. W., L. D., J. A., K. W., and M. N.

The whole affair was conducted with much good taste, and the receipts will contribute greatly to the comforts of the occupants of the parsonage.

Business is said to be dull, and our merchants—we mean the prudent ones—are shortening sail, so as to be ready for the hard times ahead.

The health of our community was never better. ROSCIUS.

EXHIBITION OF THE DECATUR HIGH SCHOOL.

The Decatur high school closed its second session with a very interesting exhibition on Friday evening, the 10th instant.

The large hall of the new academy was crowded with visitors, and the rostrum was tastefully decorated with flowers and evergreens.

A number of beautiful dramatic performances were skillfully rendered—as the "Summer Queen," "The Princess of Nature," etc. The young ladies were charming to look upon—their costumes beautiful and appropriate, and their performance admirable. The young gentlemen also acquitted themselves well as actors, especially in the play representing the trials of a school master.

The little boys and little girls surprised the audience with their excellent performance, particularly in the fishing of "Mother Goose," and "The Georgia Family," a most laughable after piece.

The declaimers also did remarkably well

At the close of the exercises badges of merit were bestowed by a committee upon the following pupils: Willie Nelms, for declaiming; Miss Mamie Kirkpatrick, Miss Nora Belle Starks, Miss Jennie Powell, Miss Mattie Steel and Mr. Thos. Avery, for acting. All did so well, however, that the committee found difficulty in deciding between a number of contestants.

The badges were delivered by Dr. Pharr with appropriate remarks.

Upon the whole the exhibition was a decided success, and to Mr. Thomas A. Murray, the principal, and his efficient colaborers, Mrs. Starke and Miss Pierce, it lends additional testimony to a reputation already high, and strengthens the confidence of the public in the institution over which they preside.

THE MAGISTRATES.

Byron Rogers, colored, was sent to jail yesterday in default of a bond of $100, by Justice McConnell for disturbing public worship. He went to a negro church near West End on Sunday, so drunk, that he not only stopped the preaching but it required half a dozen elders to get him out.

A Valuable and Elegant Volume.

Through the courtesy of M A Pope, general agent of the Atlantic coast line, we are in receipt of a splendid volume from the press of Lippincott & Co., entitled Florida: Its scenery, climate and history. This book also contains an account of Charleston, Savannah, Augusta and Aiken; a chapter for consumptives, and various papers on fruit culture. It is a complete handbook and guide for the tourist, and deserving of a place in the library of all persons, whether travelers or not. The binding and letter-press are superb; the illustrations numerous and beautiful. The text is all that could be desired, emanating as it does from the graceful pen of Mr. Sidney Lanier, whose gifts as a poet and prose writer are of national reputation. We cannot too highly commend this publication, and it is to the credit of the Atlantic coast line and its genial agent that the public have become possessed of such a treasure.

Police Matters.

Four city cases last night at the guard house.

A notorious negro, named Mark Travis, was brought in yesterday by John Hightower, marshal of Griffin. Travis was sentenced, in 1868, to the penitentiary for life for shooting the marshal of Covington. Several years ago he and a gang of convicts escaped from the Air-Line road, by knocking their keeper in the head with a pick-axe and almost killing him. Since then Travis has been wandering around in Alabama, where he was caught a few days ago.

William Farrow, a white boy, between 17 and 18 years old, was arrested yesterday by Lieut. White, with a stolen gun in his possession. Farrow was locked up and the mule identified as the property of Mr. Nash of Yellow River, DeKalb county. He comes after it to-day.

Information Wanted.

Postmaster Conley has bulletins upon the post office board, asking for information of the following parties.

Robert Eyles, who resided in Atlanta about three years ago.

Abraham Wood, son of Mrs. Wood, New Swindon, Wiltshire, England; he is thirty years of age, mechanic by trade and resided in Atlanta about two years ago.

EX-ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN, Eddie L. Grant, is open for an engagement. Special attention is directed to his card in another column.

CATHOLIC FAIR.

Blazing with Beauty and Luminous with Loveliness.

Popular, Pleasant, Profitable Satisfactory Success.

Lochrane's hall last night presented a dazzling spectacle of radiant beauty and luscious loveliness. The fascinating blonde and the charming brunette were out surrounded by their corterie of lovers and friends. Every one seemed to enjoy themselves. Father Reilly, the picture of good humor, genitality and graceful manners was present, encouraging all with his smiles and counsels. One can understand the reason of his deep hold upon his people.

We have space to-night only to note a few facts about the fair.

It has been determined to close the ballot on Thursday night for the diamond ring. The friends of Miss Katie Owens and Miss Bertha Peck will have to rally. It is a perplexing matter to have to chose between two as lovely and fascinating young ladies as they are. This porter could not solve the problem any better way than by voting for both of the o. We are sure they each deserve one as brilliant as they are.

At table No. 1, a superb gold necklace and locket is being voted for. Miss Mattie Seiple, Miss Katie Wright and Miss Bertha Moreton are being voted for. Miss Seiple is making a fine race, closely followed by the other two. The friends of each are active, and there is no telling the result.

Table No. 2, under the charge of Miss H. T. Maloney, is a popular one. John Ryan last night was the lucky winner of a silver cake basket. Rev. Father Reilly will be voted to the most popular railroad man. As yet the voters are undetermined whether it is Jno H Fiynn or Rob't Schmidt. The friends of each are called upon to rally, or they will lose it.

A fine gold watch is to be voted to the most popular gentleman. Either C C Young or Capt G Whit Anderson will get it. It is uncertain which one of them will be the lucky man. A handsome sewing is to be voted to the most popular officer of our military companies. The large number of gentlemen being voted for makes the result uncertain.

The fine oil painting of Father O'Reilly is to be voted to the lady receiving the most votes. The friends of Father O'Reilly should vote it to a lady who will appreciate it.

One of the most attractive places is the shooting gallery. Here ladies and gentlemen exercise their skill in shooting. During the two last nights of the fair a gold medal will be offered to the best lady marksman, and a handsome parlor gun to the best gentleman marksman.

But talk about your writing desk that reflects credit upon the maker, which is to be voted to the most popular director of the young men's library; about the daughter of the regiment, and the gem son everyone—the best place after all is the refreshment table. There is more solid (and liquid) comfort there than in a dozen cigar stands. It is worth a good deal to be waited on by Mrs. John Hurlee, Mrs. Mayson, Turnipseed et. al., more especially when a charming lady like Miss Duncan will be your escort.

The fair is a pleasant place to visit. You will find many fine paintings there and ladies more handsome than the paintings.

There will be a grand rush for the polls to-night, and every one is expected to do his duty—to vote early and vote often.

THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Trials and Monthly Report of Officers.

A regular meeting of the board of police commissioners was held last night in their hall at the station house.

Officer John B. Monaghan was arraigned upon a charge of intoxication and bad conduct. The case was on trial about an hour and a half, and the board heard many witnesses on both sides. The general conduct of Mr. Monaghan on this occasion in his duty were testified to by his officers. Remarks in his behalf were made by Judge Pendleton, his attorney, and also by Councilman Ellis, who actuated solely by motives friendship for the accused.

In secret session the board discussed the case for some time, and finally by a unanimous vote decided to suspend Mr Monaghan for 60 days.

The next case taken up was a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer preferred against Mr. M. H. Bell. After hearing the facts the board dismissed the charge without a dissenting vote.

REPORT OF CHIEF OF POLICE.

Chief of Police Anderson submitted his report for the month of November. From it we call the following:

Arrests for state offenses	88
" city "	249
City cases tried	243
City cases fined	184
City cases dismissed	59

FINES.

Amount of fines imposed	$1,305 25
Amount of fines collected	762 00
Amount of fines worked out	589 50
Amount of fines remitted	83 75
Amount of fines bad tabs	70 00
Amount of fines uncollected	60 00

The chief of police says that some repairs are badly needed to the furnaces for heating the cells occupied by prisoners, but does not believe than an appropriation will be made for this purpose until next year.

He says further, the recent burglaries are mainly responsible to the extreme negligence of citizens with reference to properly securing their houses against easy en rance from without, and the large number of idle loafers in our midst, many of whom are tramps.

After concluding the above buiness the board adjourned until 3 p m to-day when the watches will be arranged.

HON. G. H. PENDLETON.

The Reception Accorded Him by the Atlantese.

A Complimentary Serenade and the Speeches on the Occasion.

The arrival of Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton, the great democratic statesman of Ohio and the west, with his family and a friend, was noted in our issue of Sunday. The presence of so distinguished a visitor, was pleasing to our people, who have called in large numbers to meet him and to welcome him to the Gate City of the south.

HIS MOVEMENTS.

Mr. Pendleton is a fine specimen of the robust and portly gentleman, dignified in carriage, genial in disposition, earn at in manner, has a head almost leonine in its cast and featu es expressive of the intelligence and powers of the man. He is in evident good health, but members of his family are enfeebled, and these he is taking to Florida for the purpose of restoration.

While in the city Mr. Pendleton has had little time to call his own. He was met by General Gartrel, with whom he had formerly served in the federal congress, and Mr Wm A Shorter, whose father is a fast friend and former associate of Mr. Pendleton in congress. By these gentlemen he has been brought into view of Atlanta's notable men and features, and he has expressed his admiratio of and surprise at the wonderful progress everywhere visible. He thinks our pos. bilities are by no means exhausted, and that our city has a grand commercial and industrial future before it. He was outspoken in praise of our achievemen s.

CALLS UPON THE GOVERNOR.

At 1:30 a. m. yesterday, Mr Pendleton and Mr Shorter visited the capital and the executive office. Mr Pendleton was presented to Gov Smith and both gentlemen expressed their pleasure at the opportunity thus afforded to make an acquaintance. They conversed for some time upon general state and national affairs and parted evidently much pleased with each other.

A RIDE ABOUT THE CITY.

At 3:30 p. m. Mr. Pendleton and Mr. Shorter called at the mansion for Governor Smith who was to accompany them in a drive about the city. The three made a tour of all the points of interest and did not return until dark. The trip served to still further enhance Mr. Pendleton's admiration of our proud city.

NOT TO BE INTERVIEWED.

Mr. Pendleton accorded a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION a very pleasant half hour or more of conversation upon general subjects, but said would greatly regret that anything he might say should be tortured into an interview. He was not upon any political business, and hence would not violate his rule and speak when not prepared for a particular purpose. For these reasons we forbear to make Mr. Pendleton's conversation the public property.

HE LEAVES TO-DAY,

at noon, in company with his family, via Augusta and Savannah to Florida, where they will winter, while he will return to Ohio Mrs. and the Misses Pendleton and friend were visited by the ladies of some of our distinguished families yesterday.

THE SERENADE.

A complimentary serenade was tendered to Mr. Pendleton by his friends last evening. At 8:2) P. M. Ford's new band appeared in the arcade of the Kimball house where a great crowd had been attracted, and discoursed several fine selections. The ladies crowded the upper arcade and the grand chandelier sent a sun-light flood into the upturned faces of hundre s of citizens below.

Loud calls were made for Mr. Pendleton, and composed of Gen. L J Gartrell, Hon. John H James, Benj. H Hill, jr., Ex Mayor S B Spencer, Judge O A Lochrane, Col R F Maddox, Hon Evan P Howell and Alderman John H Flynn waited on Mr Pendle on and escorted him to the middle landing of the Pryor street stairway. His appearance was the signal for an outburst of applause.

A COMMITTEE,

THE INTRODUCTION.

was delegated to Mr. Wm. A Shorter, who presented the honored guest in the following words:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor of presenting to you a distinguished citizen of the great and prosperous state of Ohio; a state whose gigantic power commands and challenges alike the lofty pride of the west and the patriotic admiration of all sections of this union; a statesman and orator whose wisdom and eloquence, whose prominence at home, whose national reputation, whose past services in the councils of the nation, whose earnest and zealous devotion to the sacred liberties of our common country, cause us to open to him our hearts and to extend to him our hands in most cordial welcome to our progressive and historic capital, and to the proud commonwealth of Georgia. [Cheers.] It affords me particular pleasure to introduce to you this evening, Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton, of Ohio.

HON. GEO. H PENDLETON.

Upon being introduced Mr. Pendleton was greeted with prolonged applause at the termination of which he spoke as follows:

My Fellow Citizens: I am very much obliged for the honor you have done me and it gives me the greater pleasure because it was so entirely unexpected—because it is so foreign to the objects and purposes with which I have come to this portion of the country. I feel no little embarrassed to find adequate words to express my appreciation of the compliment.

The causes which have just now brought me here are of a private and personal nature. I desired to bring my family from the cold winds and chilling snows of our northern winter into the warm and golden sun-light of your more favored south. For myself I desired recuperation from the labors of a busy and somewhat over strained life. I had heard, I had read, I had known by reputation of your genial climate your fertile soil, your really productive under the activities of your people, of the proud part you had borne in the history of this country, and I had admired, and, in my humble way, followed the councils of the great statesmen you had given to the country. But the arid sands about the pyramids, but the flag which will wave over the capital at his inauguration is the sentiment of our guest when he said he was proud of his country and all that was emblematic of her progress, civilization and prosperity. Ah, we have in the south felt the storm of war and had the pain of oppression to beat in our faces, but like the storm that took Elisha's mantle, it has only carried us to a higher destiny, and we are pluming ourselves for a still higher flight! We are a people who can never go down so long as our confederated government exists, and we are the light-house to guide other nations in the true path of government. [Great applause.]

Loud calls were made for Mr. Shorter, but he modestly failed to respond.

The crowd present was immensely pleased and the occasion proved a very pleasant one.

Mr. Pendleton spent an agreeable hour or so with friends after the serenade.

Ish Dot So?

We learn that Jesse Jackson is to hold a grand war-dance with his large and thoroughbred aggregation of trained darkeys. The affair is rumored to occur at the city hall and to be in opposition to the office-holder's ring. All those who are d sgruntled and will make good delegates will be admitted upon presentation of a red ticket! Performance to-night!

Just as Usual.

During Col. McGinley's absence in Florida we note that those genial gentlemen, Frank Miller, and E B Taomas, are carrying forward the operations of the Kimball House, in the even and satisfactory style of old. They are A 1 men and deservedly popular.

Mesko & Bro. have rented the store occupied by Burke, Hancock & Co., corner of Whitehall and Alabama streets and will move in by the first of January. In the meantime they propose to reduce their stock of goods by offering bargains to the trade. They mean business.

HARD PAN

The Creditors of West, Edwards & Co. Make a Proposition.

Which the Firm Agrees to and Promises to Execute.

The Debts to be Settled Upon the Basis of Fifty Cents in the Dollar.

The West, Edwards & Co., affair assumed a shape yesterday which leads the public to believe that the beginning of the end is at hand. The complications surrounding the concern will be hard to unravel, but it is assumed that the parties fully understand the situation and are satisfied both of their mutual willingness and ability to carry out the contract substantially entered into yesterday.

THE CREDITORS' MEETINGS.

The creditors, and their representative and attorneys, met yesterday morning pursuant to adjournment, when the whole case from alpha to omega was fully reviewed and the situation considered in all its details and bearings. The general sentiment of the body was to accept the best proposition possible to be obtained, and hence a prudent caution was used in treating all propositions.

THE FORTY PER CENT

proposition was taken up, but was finally rejected. But that this action might not appear to the debtors in the guise of a stubborn refusal to recognize their distressed condition, at the afternoon session after full discussion and agreement, a proposition to in the dollar, in full accord and satisfaction was carefully prepared and duly sent to the debtors, for their consideration.

ACCEPT FIFTY CENTS

This proposition was duly consider d by the board in session, and after a careful reckoning of their remaining abilities, its terms were deemed such as the firm could comply with, and its acceptance was signified.

THE AGREEMENT

was duly reported in the evening to the creditor's meeting, and by them ratified and adopted, so that it may be considered that, so far as the debtors and nearly all of their creditors are concerned, the trouble and strife are at the end.

AN OPPOSING FORCE,

however, is found in the person of Colonel Glenn, the Arnolds and their clients, who having proceeded by bill and attachments and injunctions, are holding out for legal settlement through the courts. This opposition if continued will have to be fought, and it is presumed that the other creditors will join West, Edwa ds & Co. in the effort to overthrow this movement. What the purposes of the opposition are and what the end may be, we

FALLING LEAVES.

The wind its trump hath blown
Adown the dell;
And all the leaves are strewn
On low gray stone
And over the well!

Like human hopes they fall—
Hopes born in spring,
When Nature's cuckoo-call
Wakes life in all
And every thing.

Leaves matron summer nurst
On sunny slopes,
Where their young verdure first
To beauty burst—
Leafage and hopes.

But the autumnal gust,
That sweeps life's dead,
Blows leaves as red as rust
Into the dust,
And death's dark well.

You two are growing thicker.

—The Marquis of Lorne is connected with a society, the object of which is to give every church of England clergyman settled over a parish a salary of $1,000 a year. There are 4,000 benefices which do not yield that amount. The Marquis, by the way, is certainly disinterested in his work here, for he is himself a Presbyterian.

—Once more peace spreads her broad wings over the classic walls of Princeton. The students who were expelled for belonging to a secret society, having expressed penitence for their past course and promised adherence to the rules in the future, have been readmitted by the faculty.

—The fortune left by the Duke of Modena amounts to over thirty millions of dollars. It will be divided between three persons: His eldest sister, the Countress de Chambord; his youngest sister, the Duchess Maria Beatrice, widow of the Infante Don Juan de Bourbon and the mother of Don Carlos; and, finally, his niece, the daughter of his deceased brother Ferdinand, whose death occurred in 1840.

—Charles Dudley Warner thinks that the Italian mosquitos are more intelligent than the American ones, saying that the mosquito in Venice, who has had civilized ancestors for 1,000 years, is a very different animal from the mosquito of our western prairies. He is alert, cautious, cunning and trained to get his living with the least possible danger.

—Mr. W. S. Williams of Illinois announces that "his wife, Ann Eliza, having left his bed and board without cause, he will not be responsible for any debts she may contract."

Ann Eliza, Ann Eliza,
Once I loved but now despise her,
And as I no longer prise her
I will go and advertise her
For, although I'm not a miser,
I won't pay for what she buys her.

—A dejected South Hill hen stepped into a down town grocery, one day last week, and asked the price of eggs. "Thirty-five cents a dozen," answered the storekeeper. The hen cast her eyes to heaven as she went back to her nest, remarking in a delightful tone: "At last a hen has some incentive to doing a full day's work," and with this consoling thought she cackled over her diurnal egg, grateful for the fact that it was worth nearly three times as much as a postal card.

—The first spelling bee in England was held recently at Islington, "under the American rules," Webster's dictionary being the standard. Thirty-two gentlemen and eighteen ladies essayed their skill before a crowded audience. In the end the sexes divided the honors equally, though the first prize fell to a gentleman. The words which proved to be too much for the powers of all except the prize takers were not very difficult. "Rhododendron," "apocryphal," "philippic," "hebdomadally," and "cameleopard" put a large number hopelessly out of the contest, and at last "sesquipedalian" was only spelt correctly by the winner, Mr. Jameson. Prizes to the amount of £8 rewarded the six successful spellers out of the fifty who entered.

A Widely Applicable Remedy.

Few remedies are applicable to such a wide range of disorders as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and this not because it special properties adapted to the cure of each—such a pretence would be manifestly absurd—but on account of its wonderfully improving effect upon the general tone of the system, and its alterative action upon the organs of nutrition, secretion and discharge. Besides its well known properties as a remedy for intermittent and remittent fevers, dyspepsia, constipation, torpidity of the liver, general debility, urinary and uterine difficulties, it invariably proves to be highly serviceable in overcoming anæmia hypochondria, rheumatism, insomnia, and many other disorders and disabilities originating in poverty or impurity of the blood, nervous weakness or over-excitment, or an imperfect performance of the physical junctions. dec10-deodlw&wlt
